Speed-Up Plan For Glades Road Jobs Receives SRD Okeh

In an effort to speed up retread operations on State Road 15 between Canal Point and Belle Glade, contract for which already has been let to Rubin Construction Company of West Palm Beach County Commissioner Paul Rardin secured unanimous action of the county board in asking that the State Road Department authorize Rubin to place the leveling coat on SR 15 before putting the finish coat on SR 27 south of South Bay. This manner of procedure will get work started on the greatly-used Canal Point-Belle Glade road about 60 days quicker than had been planned. The leveling coat on US 27 will make it a good road for travel until it is finally completed.

Rardin was informed Wednesday that the Road Department had acceded to his desire and that the Rubin concern will proceed according to request. The leveling coat of retread plant mix will be finished on Road 27 within the next few days. Following completion of this particular phase of construction the Rubin concern will take a few days to put a new plant into operation on State Road 7 between Road 20 and Okeechobee Road near Loxahatchee.

Following inauguration of the new plant work will be started immediately on the retreading of SR 15 between Canal Point and Belle Glade. Commissioner Rardin expressed his satisfaction and appreciation over the fact that the State Road Department and the Rubin concern have been so cooperative in working out the speed-up plan of work.

Band Program Will Be Ended Today

Pahokee's six weeks summer band program will end Friday after a very successful summer term according to Robert O. Lampi, instructor.

Lampi said in comparison to population of towns throughout the county, the local enrollment has been above the average. The total enrollment reached 75 and with beginners and advanced pupils alternating every other day with lessons, the attendance had averaged 30 a day which is a good percentage.

Beginners had group lessons on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and advanced students Tuesdays and Thursdays. The early morning and afternoon hours were devoted to private instruction.

Lampi said two of the summer pupils will be admitted into the band. They are Helen Sheppard, who plays a cornet and Dale Stacey, a trombonist. He expects to enroll at least four or five more pupils in the band before the fall school term. There are 11 vacancies on the band made through graduation, to be filled this year.

Lampi feels that the school has been a success in many ways.

4 Major Road Jobs In County Budget For '55, Rardin Says

In the 1954-55 Palm Beach County budget there are four new and big proposals for road construction in the Fifth Commissioner's District, according to County Commissioner Paul Rardin who is responsible for inclusion of these four items. Total construction costs for the four items will run well near $1,000,000, Rardin said.

In the four items in the rebuilding of Avenue E in Belle Glade for a distance of 1½ miles from State Road 717 to State Road 80 leading into West Palm Beach. This is one of the highly important thoroughfares in Belle Glade and a complete construction job is proposed, including curb and gutter with sidewalks in various sections of the city.

In Canal Point the rebuilding of Lake Shore Drive from the bridge south to the Packing house area is included in the plan. The present road goes under water every time it rains due to an inferior drainage set-up. Commissioner Rardin hopes for a modern thoroughfare in this area with adequate drainage and sidewalks.

In the Pahokee area a three mile stretch of Muck City Road from the State Market Road to Muck City (Pelican Lake Village) will be

Contract Awarded On New Bolles Road

Contract has been awarded the Glades Production Corporation, Inc., of South Bay for construction of four miles of additional road along the north bank of the Bolles canal from Okelanta west, according to County Commissioners Paul Rardin and Ben Sundy under whose direction the cooperative construction plan was worked out.

A group of farmers are working with Palm Beach county in construction of the four miles. The county's participation will amount to $16,000. Farmers cooperating in the plan will furnish draglines, bulldozers and other equipment as their share of the cooperative plan.

Farmers Are Again Busy Preparing Lands For Fall Crops In Okeechobee Region

Ed Thomas Is New Manager Of Co-Op

Walter Kautz, president of Lake Okeechobee Farmers Co-operative here, announced the appointment of Ed Thomas of Wauchula as sales manager of the Co-op to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of John Dulany, Mr. Thomas is a former resident of Pahokee, his father at one time being a produce buyer here.

Thomas, a buyer for Frank Studstill firm, is an experienced official in the produce business, having served four years as sales manager for the Wauchula Farmers Cooperative before taking the position with Studstill. He will assume his duties Sept. 1.

The Lake Okeechobee Co-op has 32 active farmer members and is the only small farmers cooperative in this section. Its members are not permitted to farm over 350 acres of land, and many of them farm much smaller acreage.

The Co-op, organized in 1941, processed and sold 219,000 packages of produce last year.

Rice Crop Prospects Are A Little Brighter In Glades

The summer rice crop in the Glades may be the means of stabilizing the industry which had hard going in this section for the past three years.

The comparatively new industry started in this section in 1954 when a group of rice experts made surveys and collected information which made the Glades "ideal" for the rice industry.

At that time rice was selling for from $6 to $12 a bushel and according to information gleaned 32 percent of all rice consumption in the United States is on the East Coast including about 5 states that can be reached over night from the Glades. Other factors which pointed toward a paradise for the rice industry was the drainage system used by vegetable growers, which when reversed, provided sufficient flooding for winter rice crops and the summer rains which were natural flooding for rice fields. It was also pointed out that flooded rice fields were frost resistant and that rice could be produced cheaper than a crop of winter vegetables in this section were expected to support the industry.

As a result of these findings two teams planted 160 acres of rice which produced a high yield of 80 bushels to the acre. Most rice producing areas averaged around 50 bushels to the acre.

The success of the experiment and the soundness of the findings created an enthusiastic interest in the industry which resulted in the formation of the Glades Rice Growers Cooperative, made up of farmers throughout the Glades. Mem-

Coffee Shop To Get New Managers

The Canal Point Coffee Shop will have new managers Monday morning when the popular eating establishment is opened for business. Mr. and Mrs. Philo Williamson are relinquishing their management and Mr. and Mrs. Buck Geiger will be the new managers, according to M. C. Carter owner.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson plan to open the Snack Shop at Don Hiller's Grassy Waters Motel in Pahokee as soon as equipment and stock can be arranged. Mr. Williamson hopes that he will be ready to open by Sept. 1.

Batchelor Speaks

Canal Point Lions heard C. A. Batchelor outline the purpose and progress of the Everglades Insurance Underwriters Association formed in the Glades, at a meeting of the club Monday night at Community Hall. The speaker was introduced by President Osceola Upthegrove. Lions Rupert Mock Manning I. Keen and Gene Fallow of Pahokee were guests.

Tractors are humming in the fertile fields of the Lake Okeechobee section, running down weeds, and turning the black earth in preparation for fall planting.

Drainage ditches are being cleaned and farm equipment put in shape for planting which will start around Sept. 5.

Most farmers take some 30 days to get their land in shape for the seeds. Weeds and grass are run down and disked into the soil to decay. Then comes the plowing and thorough cleaning of the fields which when ready for planting are as clean as a freshly swept floor.

Some celery beds have already been planted and A. Duda and Sons in Belle Glade are reported to have had beds planted for 8 weeks or more. These plants will be ready for transplanting in the fields by August.

Most of the growers are more cautious and will wait to see what the month of September brings in weather before transplanting celery to the fields. If floods and storms come celery beds can be more easily protected than a field of celery.

Some growers say that celery set in October is ready for harvest about the same time as plants set in September because during the hot weather there is little growth in the plants. Most of the celery growers have as their goal the Thanksgiving market.

Charles T. Niblack, one of the early celery growers in this section, is reported to have his celery farm up for lease, and Vandegrift-Williams, another Pahokee celery farm—(continued on page 8)

Glades Full Water, One Ranch Flooded

Despite expenditures of millions of dollars for flood control and widespread publicity with an optimistic flavor as it regards water conditions in the Lake Okeechobee farming region today—the Glades is FULL of water.

Lake Okeechobee is being kept at a reasonable level by the engineers but the back country is full to overflowing and cattle ranches are being kept free of the devastating waters only by individual pumping systems and individually maintained dikes. In one instance where dikes have been weakened by the continuous rains, much damage has resulted where farm dikes have broken and flooded cattle pastures.

This week the Lazy "F" Ranch near Twenty Mile Bend with its 2300 acres of pasture land went under 2 1/4 feet of water when one of the individually maintained dikes broke. Paul Thompson is owner of the Lazy "F" and at the time the dike broke he had about 900 head of cattle on pasture.

A section of one of ten oldest railroads in Florida, 14 miles between Yulee and Nassau, has been discontinued by the Seaboard Airline Railroad by permission of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

The State Road Department this week, was asked to shift the scene of Glades road repairs from State Road 27 to the Bell Glade, Canal Point and Pahokee area. The request was approved at the suggestion of Commissioner Paul Rardin in who said that the leveling cost, on State Road 27 is nearly complete and Rardin asks that the workmen move immediately into another section of the Glades and begin needed repair of other projects.

Rardin said that contracts had been let on all the Glades work and that the request to the State Road Department would serve to get the work underway quicker.

Rardin this week, also won approval for a request to amend the county's annual budget to include four road projects in the Glades. The amendment, the Canal Point commissioner explained, would in no way affect the land tax levy since the anticipated expenditures in the amendment would be financed through state gas tax funds.

The board this week approved its annual budget calling for total expenditures of $5,769,000 and an overall tax levy of 15.63 mills. Of the milleage, 12.63 is levied for general operating and other county expenses while the balance is levied for special road and bridge districts.

Capital improvements of more than $400,000 accounted for a slight increase in the tax levy this year. Revenue from this added levy will finance new health centers at Belle Glade and Pahokee, remodeling and completion of the county jail; remodeling another section of the court house; and construction of a tourist welcome station on U. S. Highway 1 at Juno Beach.

The tax levy resolution called for 7.64 mills for the general fund; 1.25 mills, fine and forfeiture; 1 mill, general Road and Bridge; 2.39 mills, capital outlay; .34 mill, Ocean Boulevard; 2 mills special road and bridge district 8 and 1 mill special road and bridge district No. 11.

Other tax levies certified to the county tax collector this week included the hospital district at Belle Glade, 7.15 mills; hospital district at Pahokee, 10 mills; Jupiter Inlet District, 6 mills and the South Lake Worth Inlet District 1.85 mills.

In other actions, the commission approved the use of Canal Point streets adjacent to the West Palm Beach Canal, as spoil area for the Central and South Florida Flood Control District.

Heard that Commissioner Rardin has been named to the roads and Highways committee of the National Association of County Commissioners and has been named chairman of the legislative committee of the State Association of County Officials.

Authorized County Attorney Harry Johnston and Commissioner Roy Michael, Lake Worth, to confer with Orange County officials on a proposed legislative act to build county roads and assess the cost against adjacent property.

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Millar

Hello everybody! Shelly Winters is one actress that refuses to sit back and rest on her laurels. Miss Winters claims she has learned more in the last year and a half than in all the rest of her life, and that she is still learning. Completely blind in hypocrisy, Shelly's frank remarks sometimes get her into trouble, but in the long run people admire her sincerity and forthright outlook on life. "I'm a great exponent of learning from past mistakes," declares Miss Winters. "There were times in the past when I had a feeling of insecurity and was inclined to make the worst of things. A small upset would blow up to a catastrophe in my mind. Now I am more capable of handling problems as they arise and of controlling my emotions." When she was off the screen for fourteen months, Shelly thought that it might mean the end of her career. When she saw herself in the first rushes of her first picture after that, she went home in tears, certain that she was through. Then she learned that everyone was praising her wonderful performance. Before she knew it she had three pictures in rapid succession lined up, two more offered, a personal appearance in a night club, and four stage plays for her choosing.

"I think you really have to go through a tough period to get a proper perspective on life," says Miss Winters. "When things run too smoothly, you get depressed at the first obstacle. But after you've hurdled a few, you're able to relax and laugh it off." See you at the movies—Mal.

Fans Take Heat Off Family...

Here's How Rooms Can Be Kept Cool

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

In a vague sort of way most of us know why we feel cooler when the air rushes in through the open windows of our moving automobile on a hot day. The outside temperature remains the same, but the breeze makes us feel cooler. Why? Simply because the moving air increased the rate of evaporation of moisture from our skin. An electric fan in the home acts the same way as the air rushing in the car's windows.

A fan of the right size, and properly located, maintains a constant circulation of air throughout an entire room. Fans circulate a given number of cubic feet of air per minute (CFM), and this data appears on their respective nameplates. So to get the right size of fan or fans you need you should know the cubic feet of air in the room to be cooled, and the rate at which you want the air circulated. The cubic feet of a room is determined by multiplying the length of the room \times the width \times the height. The rate of circulation required depends on the climate in which you live. If you reside in hot climates you'll want to circulate the air at least once per minute. In more moderate climates, a 2 or 3-minute air circulation cycle may be adequate.

Day and night cooling operations vary. On hot days, close the windows and doors, and draw the shades to keep the cooler air indoors. Then turn on the fan. If you have according to Figures 1, 2 and 3. For night cooling, warmer inside air must be exhausted and cooler outdoor air drawn in. The inlet for cooler air should be 2 or 3 times that of the outlet for warmer inside air. The outlet should be $\frac{1}{4}$ times the diameter of the fan blades. Figures 4, 5 and 6 show how night cooling can be accomplished satisfactorily.

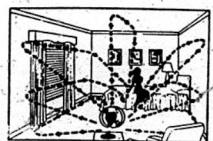

FIG. 2—Oscillating fan moves air back and forth in irregular motion so persons in immediate vicinity quickly feel cooling effect.

FIG. 3—Floor fan in center of room provides excellent pattern of air movement for general circulation.

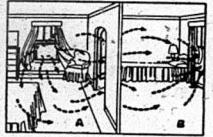

FIG. 4—Hot stuffy air is exhausted from one room while cool air is drawn into another room.

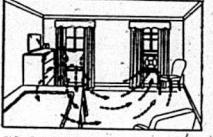

FIG. 5—Window fan exhausts warm air through one window and draws in cool air through another.

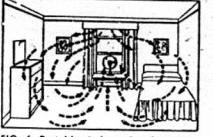

FIG. 6—Portable desk, pedestal or window fan does double job of 'exhaust' cooling provided they are of proper size and correctly positioned.

"It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Lift, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

The Golden Text is from Zechariah (3:17): "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing."

you can have your dream house—this easy way!

A dream? Not at all. Thousands of people with modest incomes have been able to save the down payment, or the whole price, of the home of their dreams—because they invested in U. S. Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan: Look at the chart on this page. See how you can accumulate enough money for the down payment on a home. Or enough for your children's college education or a retirement income. And by saving only a few dollars a week, too.

The answer is that you save systematically on the Payroll Savings Plan. All you have to do is tell your pay office how much you've decided to save each payday (it can be as little as a couple of dollars). After that your money is saved for you, before you get your salary. Then each time enough has accumulated, it is invested in a Bond, and the Bond turned over to you:

And remember—your U. S. Savings Bonds now will bring you an average of 3½% interest; compounded semiannually, for 19 years and 8 months. That's why the money you put into Bonds now grows to such a surprisingly big sum.

Why don't you start—today? Sign, where you work, for the Payroll Savings Plan. Or, if you're self-employed, have your banker enroll you in the Bond-A-Month Plan. It's as easy as the Payroll Savings Plan:

If you want approximately on the systematic Payroll Savings Plan

Each week for 19 years and 8 months, save...	$3.75	$7.50	$18.75

This chart shows only a few typical examples of savings goals and how to reach them through Payroll Savings. You can save any sum you wish, from a couple of dollars a payday up to as much as you want. The important thing is, start your Plan today!

Rice Crop

finest rice crops ever to be grown in the Glades will be harvested.

So far plants are healthy and free of blight and the harvest which started last week is producing satisfactory yields.

One official said Tuesday the only fly in the ointment is the continued rains which have prevailed in this section since Saturday. The harvesting combines shake the grain loose from the stalk, and when the fields and equipment all are wet the grain has a tendency to stick to everything it touches which makes harvesting difficult.

Harvest of rice can not be delayed more than a few days because when it ripens it falls to the ground and is a total loss.

Members of the cooperative harvesting rice this week in the Belle Glade area are; Henry Spellman III, Allen Craig, John Turner and Carl Barber all of Belle Glade. Spellman and Craig are growing Texas Zenith rice, a short grain variety, but most of the crop is planted to Louisiana Patina, a long grain variety. Fritz Stein, who is growing a late summer crop, is reported to have planted his fields with seed rice which he grew last fall.

An official said that home grown seeds seem to germinate and bear as well as seeds brought in from Texas and Louisiana.

Production of rice is estimated around $60 per acre. The cooperative had hoped to purchase combines for harvesting the rice, but were unable to do so. Combines are owned by private individuals who are hired to harvest the crop. The rice is being dried at the co-op's drier and is being shipped for milling to Louisiana and possibly some to South Carolina.

Horse racing produced an all-time high of $12,888,446 in state revenue for 1954 in Florida. Of the four tracks, only Hialeah showed an increase in state revenue.

Pahokee Council In Routine Meeting

The City of Pahokee has made final payment on water mains leading from the city to Pahokee Housing Authority Labor camps, it was announced at a meeting of the Council Monday at City Hall.

The U. S. government installed the mains at a cost of around $20,000 when the camps were built, and the city retired the debt by paying the government 50 per cent of the cost of water consumed at the camps.

Council members continued to make plans for revamping the city zoning system. Fredrick Bair an official of Florida Planning and Zoning Association, plans to arrive in Pahokee around the first of Oct., to direct the revision of the system. At the meeting Monday evening plans were made to get newly appointed planning board and city councilmen together to map out needed revisions in the city zoning ordinance and to lay the ground work for action when the zoning expert arrives. The planning committee is composed of Otto R. Bleech, Robert Apgren and Wiley Tilliss named by City Council.

Councilman Louis Mims reported that citizens are continually calling concerning mosquito control in the city and would like them to know that the city is doing minimum spraying, because of low city finances. However city officials plan to continue the spraying throughout the mosquito season, he said.

A letter was read from U. S. Engineers urging the city to enact an ordinance preventing citizens in the Glades from building in areas subject to flooding, and a request came from Pahokee Chamber of Commerce urging action in condemning buildings within the city limits falling below the city fire and zoning regulations.

A request from Vance Denton that he be exempt from sidewalk assessments because the walks blocked natural drainage of his property was denied on the grounds that the charge of the sidewalks was neither improper nor a discrimination.

A meeting of the Fort Mayaca Cemetery commission made up of representatives from the towns of South Bay, Pahokee, and Belle Glade, was announced for Monday at 8 p. m. at City Hall. It was reported that the commission is still negotiating for additional lands for the cemetery, which has only a few remaining lots in the Negro section.

rebuilt completely, making it a modern highway.

South Bay will come in for its share under the improvement plan. Joe Louis Avenue in the colored section will be extended for more than a half mile to intersect with SR 80 alongside the present landing strip. The entire street will be modernized with adequate drainage, etc.

Commissioner Rardin pointed out that construction of the four major projects in the Glades will not call for additional county taxes as the cost will come from anticipated gas tax funds.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillier will receive their friends in the beautifully landscaped patio.

J. L. Reeves is the house guest of his son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Balcoms and family of Hampton Bays, N. Y.

Farmers Are Again

er is reported getting out of the celery deal this year. The cost of planting a celery crop has been estimated at around $500 an acre in comparison to $50 to $60 per acre for green beans and $100 an acre for sweet corn.

A few early green beans will be planted but the bulk of the fall green bean crop will not go into the ground to around Sept. 15. If all goes well beans planted then will be ready for harvest around the middle or last of October.

Because of heavy losses suffered by farmers last year acreage will be out this year in the Glades. This is expected to improve the farm industry which has been sick for the past two years because of over-production.

The greatest reductions are expected to be in celery and sweet corn which have been the major crops in the Glades for the past two or three years. There may also be a slight reduction in the green bean acreage. Many farmers who lost their shirts last year because of over-production and poor distribution, are stymied in plans for the fall season because of financing.

Many are in doubt as to whether they can produce sufficient collateral to secure financing at the local bank, and loan companies, lending rather generously to farmers in this section for the past five or six years are reported to be whitening their loans down because of delinquent payments.

These difficulties have muddled the farm picture some and have slowed down farm activities. Last year was one of the poorest crop seasons experienced in this section in many years, with most of the growers just breaking even and some ending the season in the red.

Alice Ann Ross Is Talent Show Winner

Alice Ann Ross took the top spot at Malcolm Miller's Scout Talent Show at the Prince Theatre, Tuesday night. Miss Ross presented some of the fastest and most difficult twirling that has been seen in this vicinity and the huge crowd accorded her one of the most thunderous rounds of applause we have heard. This act was Tops.

Velma Williams; fresh and pretty in a lovely gown sang "Alice Blue Gown" and brought the house down. She returned, after a change, and presented a difficult acrobatic act, which was enthusiastically received.

Velma is a very talented young miss and has improved a great deal since her last appearance here. Her tricks brought hand after hand. The act moved along swiftly and Miss Williams showed that, she knew exactly what she was doing and how it should be done. She took second place.

Carle Bracewell was close competitor for second with her offering of "Little Things Mean A Lot To Me" and "Keep It A Secret". This was a first time before an audience for this little miss, but she has a style of delivery and a voice that, with some training and direction, could be developed easily.

Betty Boyd offered a novelty Charleston that could have been a little shorter.

Carolyn Sanford, accompanied by Smiley Williamson, offered "Stockade Blues" and "The Death Of Hank Williams." This little miss has a whole lot of voice for a little miss. Her reception was gratifying.

Phyllis Joy Withhurst songstress, and Leonard Fishman, pianist, were guest stars from Belle Glade and the audience liked them very much. Show was sponsored by Glades Equipment Company.

A. R. Harrington has been named by the Town and County Commission of the South Eastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church to represent the West Palm Beach District at Lake Junaluska Laymen and ministers conference in August.

Lauds Burdine's

The Palm Beach County Commission this week became the first officially governing body to acknowledge the formal opening of Burdine's new multi-million dollar department store in West Palm Beach.

The commission, at its regular meeting Monday, adopted a resolution of congratulations for Burdine's just a few minutes after the store doors were thrown open to a horde of shoppers who attended the opening. Members of the commission were guests at the brief ceremonies which preceded opening of the new store.

Claude Says The "D" Stands For Democrat

MIAMI—The middle initial is "D" like in "Democrat," says Claude Pepper.

The former United States Senator or in a release to news agencies this week calls attention to the fact that his middle name is "Denison" and his full name Claude Denison Pepper.

Pepper who was defeated by George Smathers, is concerned over the frequent mention of his name as "Claude A. Pepper" and wants the public to know that his middle initial is "D".

"D" or "A" most people know him as simply "Claude Pepper" and if he is smart he will leave it that way. Initials are trivial and can become confusing. But if you are a stickler for accuracy, it is "Claude D. (as in Democrat) Pepper" and that is that.
